

METSIT 12Z 15-Jan Generally fair weather today as a low center makes its way eastward and away from your route - but temperatures will be dropping as you progress southward. Another low awaits along the Southern Ocean / Ross Sea boundary, this one likely to bring a south-west component to winds and seas tomorrow, along with light mixed precipitation and patchy fog.

FORECASTER NOTES Significant variations are expected with slight shifts in latitude and longitude from this forecast. To assist with ship tracking and ensure the most accurate forecast possible, please send updated waypoints to include ETA in port.
